PARTNER, COMMERCIAL FINANCE CHAIR

617.646.2252

jganetakis@sherin.com

Jack Anetakis represents financial institutions and other lenders in commercial and industrial, asset-based, commercial real estate, affordable housing, and renewable energy loan and credit transactions.

A partner in the firm's Real Estate and Corporate departments, as well as its Renewable Energy Practice Group, Jack's experience includes drafting and negotiation of loan and credit documents, interest rate swap documentation, participation agreements, and intercreditor and subordination agreements. He is skilled in assisting clients in structuring finance transactions, and reviewing, analyzing, and advising clients regarding due diligence.

Jack advises financial institutions in loan recovery, work out, and debt restructuring, including drafting and negotiation of forbearance agreements, conducting real estate foreclosures, and preparation of debt assignment and assumption agreements.

He also represents owners and developers in all matters pertaining to commercial real estate, including acquisitions, sales, leasing, permitting, development, construction, and financing.

In addition to his background in both real estate and corporate finance, Jack brings his extensive experience representing lenders and developers in connection with renewable energy projects, including review and/or negotiation of site leases, power purchase arrangements, PILOT agreements, and forbearance agreements with tax credit investors.
